

Children's Column

Dear Corner Cousins: Where are we all? Seems as though our boys and girls are blacksliding. I had a very nice letter from my Margaret last week. She is so good. I hope Aunt Betsy's Dorothy is all right now. I saw in a paper recently where she was ill. I see Miss Curiosity bustling about quite often. She is a busy lady, but let's hope she will continue to send her nice poems.

Now boys, girls and all the rest, let's have some stories, poems or letters. —Margaret's Aunt.

MY INITIATION TO THE LITTLE SCORPIONS' CLUB

By Dorothy Emmons, Greenwood

One morning as I was playing in our back yard, I heard the shouts of boys. Just as I looked up I saw half a dozen or more boys standing around the yard. "Come on boys," cried the leader, "let's initiate him." I was so frightened I did not know what to do. They came up, tied my hands together and put a scarf around my waist. Then they made me climb a tree, which I nearly tumbled out of and without their help could not have climbed it. They put me on a limb and put the scarf around it, so I hung there.

I heard one of the boys coming up and soon heard a saw. Suddenly I felt very faint and sick, my head felt dizzy and I began to cry. I felt sure that I had come to an end. I heard the other boys laughing. Once in a while I could hear my mother cry out for the boys to stop, but most of all I heard the saw saving steadily on. Suddenly a shout came from below. "When ya have it half saved through, his weight oughta break it off."

Just then the saw stopped and I was helped back to the ground. Looking up at the tree I saw that it was another limb that had been saved.

Just then the leader came up and he was grinning broadly. You are a member of the Scorpions' Club now. That was just an initiation," he said. "I was so surprised that I could not help laughing with the other boys."

MY INITIATION TO THE SCORPION CLUB

By Lynn Morey

One day I thought I would join the band of "The Little Scorpions". I told their leader and he took me to their club house. The leader started to talk in a whisper to the others as if they were planning whether I should join or not. All of a sudden they let out a "whoop" and jumped onto me. Soon they had my hands tied.

Then they took me out and took a tree branch and stuck it in the ground with a wooden horse to lean against. Then they tied me to a branch and a boy with a saw climbed up and started to saw at a branch.

I thought it was the branch I was tied to and so I began to cry for help. The boys began to roar with laughter and I made remarks. I began to feel sick in the stomach and very weak. There was a crack and the branch the boy had been sawing fell to the ground.

I knew what they had done and so they took me down and I recovered into an underground cave. At last I was a full fledged member of the Scorpion Club.

We expect to hear from Aunt Betsy before long. We understand the measles have paid her family a visit and have kept her busier than usual.

Dear Corner Cousins: I guess everyone has dropped out but the curious one or is everyone sick. Did I hear that paper, that Aunt Betsy's Dorothy was sick with the measles, or was it Grandma's Dorothy?

Margaret's Aunt sure has an eye for nice poetry. I would like to have her call on me very much, but how did she find me? And can you tell me why Aunt Betsy doesn't answer my letter? I am sent in care of the Advertiser. I am very busy these days and suppose others are. I heard some say Grandma was sick. I suppose that is why I did not hear from her last week. Here's hoping she is better by now. I hope Aunt Betsy and the two Dorothys are better and we will hear from her this week.

All the young folks have stopped writing, perhaps their school takes up all their time now. I remember when I went to school how hard it was to use pen or paper out of school, just didn't want to think of it. It was hard enough to use them in school, I did not use them enough, as it is. Let's hear from you all once more. As ever, —Miss Curiosity.

A Riddle

On fluttering wings I early rose
In no excited flight
The life in the shade that blows,
Not pure or more white.
At eve or moon 'twas pleasant sport
Adown the stream to glide
I helped my mother to support
And never left her side.
A reckless man, who sealed my doom,
Resolved a prize to win,
Dragged me from my home,
And dropped me to the skin.
He cropped my hair, that skin he flayed,
He cut my tongue, because, he said,
"He thus could make me speak."
"Thus done—my name and nature changed,
For love of hateful gold,
With many victims,
To slavery I was sold.
I'm slave to any man, or all,
Yet do not tell for all
And though I'm ready at the call,
I cannot work myself.
Your tears and smiles I can excite,
Your inmost thoughts revealing,
Can give you sorrow or delight,
And yet I have no feeling.
Long persecutions I have seen,
But this I must grow larger
I think I never yet have been
So badly used as now.
What is that which by adding something to it will become smaller; but if you add nothing, will grow larger?
See how many can answer these. I will send answers later.

Automobile manufacturers say that because the human leg has become obsolete for locomotion in the United States, automobiles will be sold in quantities that legs are obsolete except for the purposes of ornament, when attached to the gentler sex, and for the golfing use of mere man; the leg became as useless as the appendix. No longer do the thigh, calf, ankle and foot discharge their original purpose of locomotion, that work has been delegated to the automobile.

MEETING OF CUMBERLAND AND ANDROSCOGGIN POMONA GRANGE AT NAPLES

State Overseer, F. Ardine Richardson, and State Pomona, Christine Richardson, of Strong, Assistant Steward, E. Carroll Bean, and Lady Assistant Steward, Grace E. Bean of Kenduskeag, with the State Chaplain, Rev. Fred Lyman of Naples, were the officers who made the Cumberland and Androscoggin Union Pomona a memorable one. At the morning session the fifth degree supervised by the state officers was conferred.

The long tables for the finely served dinner were filled and necessitated a re-setting for many more. In the afternoon the state officers with their regalia and paraphernalia installed the officers for Pomona and three subordinate Granges.

Returns from the challenge for the donation sum per capita towards the Educational Fund resulted in this Pomona having given the largest donation of any Grange in the state.

The installation program consisted of an address by Bro. Richardson, remarks by Rev. Fred Lyman and Bro. Bean, vocal solos by Arona Wight of Naples, an appropriate poem by Sister Richardson, remarks by Sister Bean and piano solos by Philip Cole of Casco.

Those from different Granges installed were William C. Cole, Master of Pomona; Ralph Mayo, Naples; Irene Crockett, Riverside; and Gardner Cole, Casco. Lydia Hall, Overseer of Pomona; Myron Walker, Naples, and Joseph Small, Riverside.

Oliver Burgess, Lecturer, Casco; George Russell, Steward, Naples; Julia Burgess, Casco.

Basel Chadbourne, Assistant Steward, of Pomona; Jennie Chute, Riverside and Robert Gay, Casco.

Rev. Fred Lyman, Chaplain, Pomona; William Cole, Riverside, and George Burgess, Casco.

George Hanson, treasurer of Pomona; Virginia Walker, Naples; Ephraim Jordan, Riverside, and Nina Burgess, Casco. Josie Hanson, secretary of Pomona; Lillian Lyman, Naples; Bessie Small, Riverside and Lillian Oliver, Casco.

Lady officers of Pomona, Angie Cole, Lillian Oliver and Alice McVane. Those of subordinate Granges, Zella Wight, Naples; Ramona Cole, Riverside; Louisa Cole, Casco; Rilla Mayo, Naples; Nellie Goodwin, Riverside; Sister Emerson, Naples; George Plummer, Riverside, and Blanche Plummer.

Glady's Chadbourne, Lady Assistant Steward of Pomona; Wilbur Emerson, Gatekeeper of Pomona; Granville Strout, Riverside, and Harriet Moore, Casco.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday Feb. 9th, with Riverside Grange, Naples.

An article in your paper recently discussed what the town of Otisfield would probably do in regard to building a mile of road on the Norway-Harrison road.

Many of them are off and in farm miles of roads. To say nothing about the town clerk, who have been asked recently that must be paid it once and the March meeting coming right along.

There is $2,000 on last year's taxes uncollectable on account of hard times in town to help out. A few years ago a timber job meant a little money for the farmers. Now, on our plowed out roads, trucks get from outside get the work.

bringing from two to three cents per quart, eggs 18 cents and dropping. There is no money crop that can be depended upon. If a farmer wants to haul his own wood a quarter of a mile on the main road, he has to hire a truck, and use the same, with a good pair of horses standing in the barn.

The Canada Hill Road is still quite fresh in our minds. We asked for a road above the water and the state came on and laid one out above the road. It was a hard job, the hardest hill between Spurr's Corner and the depot. They must have thought the waves were going to dash high. Any old woman with a hard stick, could have done a better job.

The road bosses and inspectors are making money and we don't wonder they are coughing up some more to do, but roads are bad and we spend our time talking about Russia, but what about Maine? It would be more merciful to go around and shoot the old inhabitants than to tax them for their homes, just to build roads for others to use.

There is just as much money in this country as ever. Could we find a way to tax the money, which has been hoarded down, without taxing poor people out of their homes, then public works for the unemployed might be all right. As it is, it is pestiferous. —A Tax Payor.

POETRY

Don't kill the birds, the happy birds,
That bless the field and grove;
So innocent to look upon,
They claim our warmest love.
The happy birds, the cheerful birds,
How pleasant 'tis to see,
No spot can be a cheerless place
Where their presence be.

OUR JANUARY END O' MONTH SALE AND THE VERY LAST DAYS OF THE 1932 Clearance Sale Are Now in Progress

We cannot foretell the time when such low prices as these will be in force again.

The Clearance Sale of this Store is to clean house of all odds and ends, surplus stocks, etc., with which to begin the new year. Some merchants have said it is unwise to so drastically reduce prices for such a purpose. In this we have for several years most cordially disagreed with others until the wisdom of such proceedings has been clearly shown over and over again.

These Clearance Sales serve well the people of this and surrounding communities and this is but the true mission of our business activities.

At This Time We would suggest quick action—these prices cannot and will not be maintained.

On account of the paper being published so late in the week we shall continue this sale until Monday night, Feb. 1st.

During these last few Sale Days everything in the store not marked down will bear at least 10 per cent. discount, but savings in many instances will be one-fourth, one-third, one-half and even more in some instances.
